From: Ward, Jerry on Sun, Feb 5, 1995 6:18 PM
Subject: RE: Field Sales - Telephone Service
To: Mulderig, John

2043720167B

Yes John, I am fairly certain that all of the voice mail systems in the field are set up the same as far the storage and retention of messages - I will verify this next week and get the specifics as to how the are set up. A second thought though, there use to be a lot of single line answering machine throughout the company and although most if not all were replaced with voice mail systems I suspect there may be some still out there in the smaller offices - is this a concern?

Source: https://www.industrydocuments.ucsf.edu/docs/skjh0005